

I am appalled at Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary just days before the election. I feel this is a crystal clear example of what occurs with media consolidation and its dangers.

Sinclair is obligated to serve the public interest however, it is representing just one political candidate and at a time crucial to those still deciding on this election.

I am not stating that I am a Kerry supporter, nor am I stating that I am a Bush supporter. I am, however, a supporter of what is fair and just. There are rules governing the actions of those broadcasting on the public airways. Above and beyond rules there should be morale issues that are upheld.

I demand Sinclair Broadcasting be held to these standards.
